

Have you casted something unusual ?

The Po-Knee Splint

This is Hewey. Named after Lleyton Hewitt who was playing the Australian Open Tennis Tournament 2005. He was born 6 weeks premature, requiring splints to enable him to stand. I made these using Dynacast Prelude to prevent his legs from hypextending. Without them his carpals and tarsals would crush, and prevent his legs from growing to full length. They were applied when Huey was 2 days old. He is now fully grown and only slightly smaller in height than he should be.

How about you send some of your pictures in to us?
